Our story

AfriAgriFed connects the people who grow Africa's food with the people who buy it, study it and invest in it. One platform for Digitalizing Africa's food security from African soil.

HOW WE SOUND

Plain, practical and confident. We talk about yields, prices and access — not disruption. We are proud of where we come from and we never talk down to a farmer.

The mark, explained

1 The continent

Africa in outline — the whole market, not one country.

2 The germinating seed

The spiral is an embryo uncoiling. Growth that has already begun.

3 The cotyledons

The first two leaves a seedling puts out. Food, and the promise of more.

Fixed artwork. Never redraw or re-space it — always place the supplied vector file.

Photography

DO

Real farmers, real fields, real markets — no stock-photo handshakes.

Natural light. Early morning and late afternoon, when the ground is warm.

Faces and hands. Show the person, not just the produce.

Give the frame room; we place the logo in the quiet corner.

DO NOT

Heavy green filters or teal-and-orange grading.

Generic drone shots that could be any continent.

AI-generated crops, tractors or people.

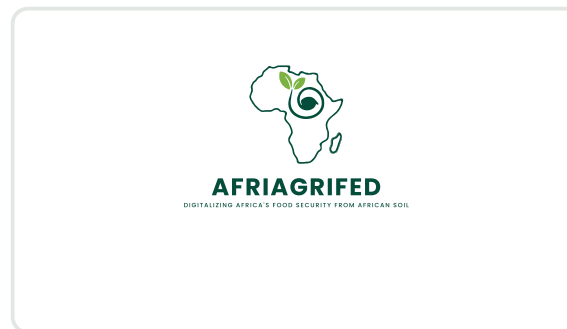

Overlaying the logo on a busy part of the frame.
